

To use Safari on a PC or Mac computer to access the Aqumulate service you must modify the Cookies security setting to 'accept cookies.'

Locate the 'Preferences' option (Choose Safari > Preferences on Mac; Click the gear symbol in upper right for Windows;) and click to open the 'Preferences' control panel.

Announcement

Important Announcement:

On October 29, 2013 the Advisor Exchange service and servers was acquired by Aqumulate LLC. Your access to the service and the security of your data remains the same. If you have any questions, please contact your advisor. You may also contact Aqumulate at feedback@aqumulate.com.

Note the new URL <https://secure.aqumulate.com> and please be sure to update your bookmarks and favorites with this new address.

My involvement with the Advisor Exchange service goes back to 2007. I am deeply committed to account aggregation and improving the service. Over the coming months you will begin to notice feature enhancements and ways for you interact and provide feedback to our team. If you have any suggestions today, please shoot us an email feedback@aqumulate.com. Your input is invaluable.

All the best,
John Luciano
Founder
